

USER JOURNEY

1. When customers first enter a CK Jeans prototype store, all displays throughout the shop (virtual mannequins, tabletop, passive screens) will be displaying the ambient, default edit of Tribe.
2. Customers viewing an interactive screen will see subtle visual cues indicating that they should touch the screen.
3. Upon touching a screen, customers will see a model hanging out in the background. A title next to the model indicates the fit he is wearing. Further screen cues will indicate that the user can scroll and select the models.
4. Upon selecting a fit, that particular model walks toward the viewer and shows side, rear, and back to front. Information about the jeans will appear including, size, fit, wash, and style.
5. Controls appear which allow the customer to change to different Tribe members as well as switch to side and rear views of the current model.

FLOW OVERVIEW

BASIC INTERACTION FLOW OVERVIEW

The user begins at the Ambient Video screen and can move to the Group Roll and then to the Fit Guide. From the Fit Guide the viewer may:

- Move to the next or previous model.
- Change the view of the current model.
- Return to the Group Roll.

1 If there has been no interaction since the Fit Guide, timeout occurs in  $X/2$  seconds.

Slider

Dragging the slider scrubs through a video of the model turning to the side and then to the rear.

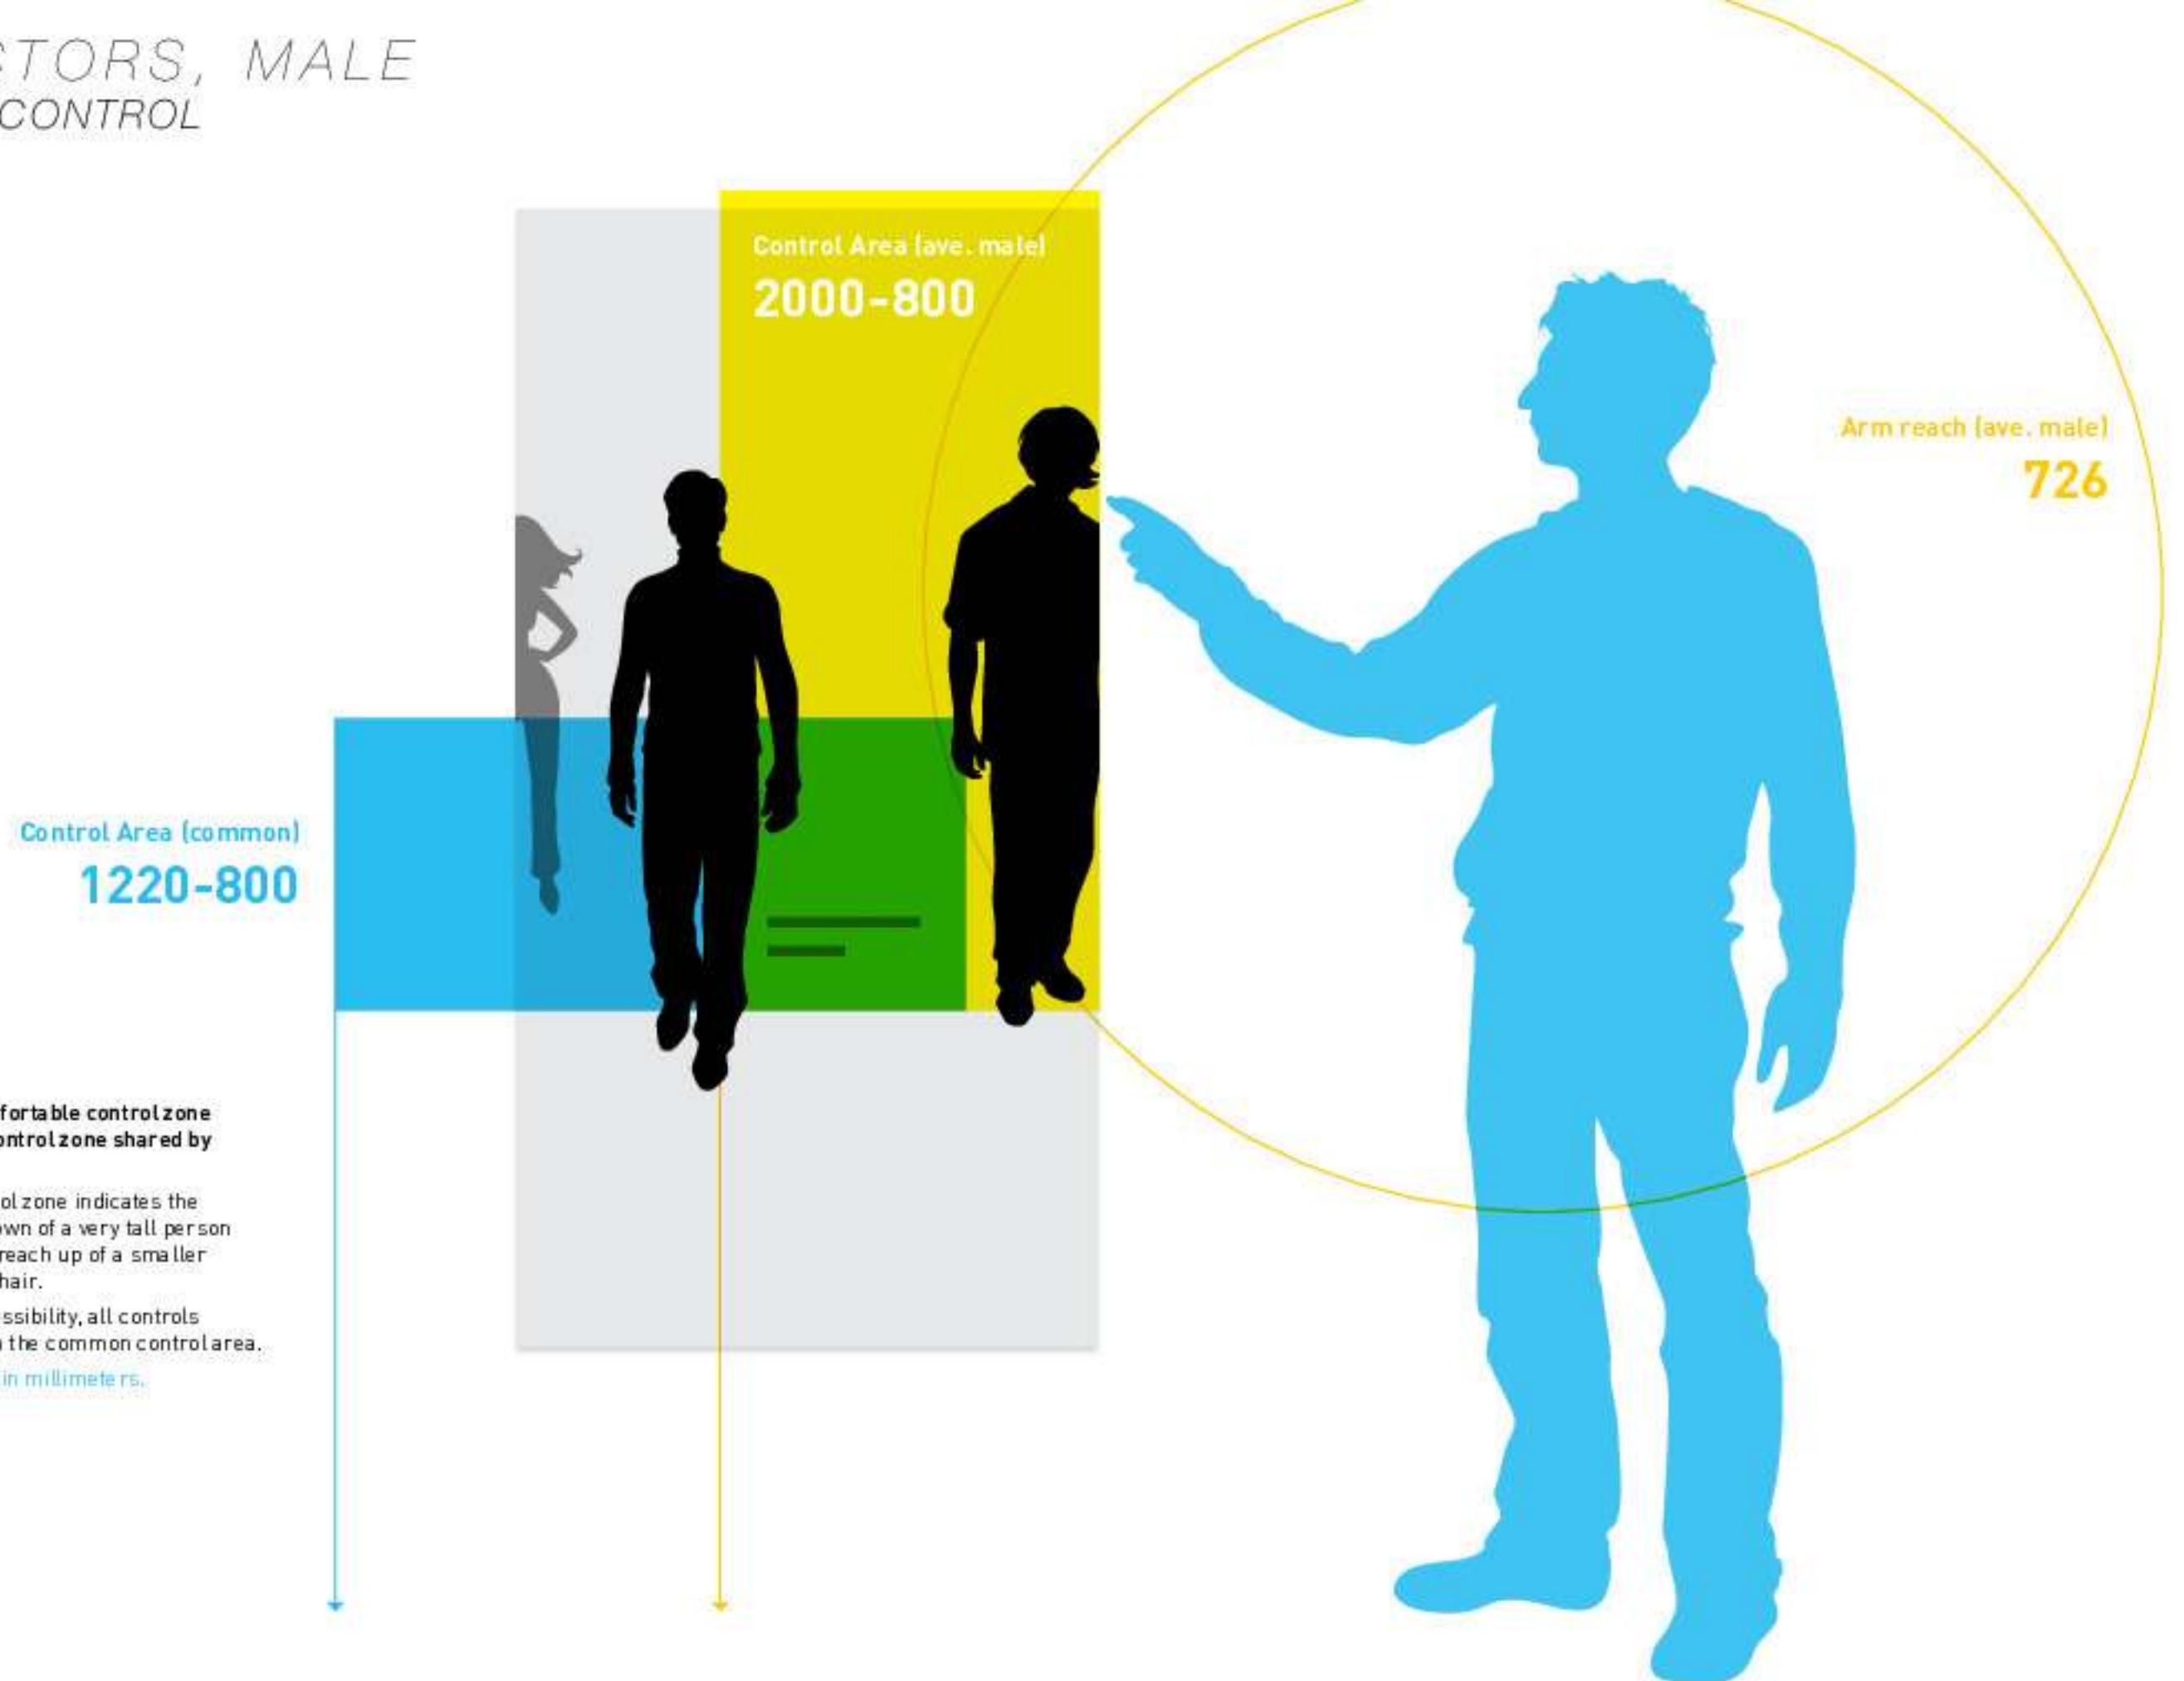

Releasing the slider pauses the video on that frame. After 10 seconds the video continues and the model completes the turn. Exiting the fit guide causes the model to complete the turn before walking backwards.

Releasing the slider rate either ends or continues the looped video.

GNB Option 1

The screenshot shows the top navigation bar of the Samsung website. It includes the 'Consumer Business' link, a search bar with a magnifying glass icon, and icons for account, notifications, and cart. The main menu items are MOBILE, TV, HOME APPLIANCES, COMPUTING, AUDIO, CAMERA, SMARTHOME, and links for APPS, SUPPORT, and BUSINESS.

GNB Option 2

This screenshot shows a similar top navigation bar to GNB Option 1, featuring the Samsung logo, account, notifications, and cart icons. The main menu items are MOBILE, TV, HOME APPLIANCES, COMPUTING, AUDIO, CAMERA, SMARTHOME, and links for APPS, SUPPORT, and BUSINESS.

Mega Menu

Support Menu

The screenshot shows a mega menu for support. At the top, it asks, "How can we help?" Below are links for Help with your order, Repairs, User Manuals, and Register a Device. At the bottom of the menu are two buttons: "Live Chat" and "800-SAMSUNG". A small note at the very bottom says, "Still need help? Support Center". The top navigation bar is consistent with the other screenshots.

01. Hero Slot highlights the central feature or benefit that differentiates the product or category. Design and innovation offer interesting strong content.
02. Filter menus: Menus expand on rollover and collapse on rollout. Clicking any choice updates the page contents in the background.
03. Sort by: Sort by defaults to Newest items.
04. Lifestyle images: Rollover of the product thumbnail shows an alternate lifestyle image if available. Each product should have a lifestyle image that shows its scale and design in a real environment. This type of imagery helps customers visualize a Samsung lifestyle.
05. Features: Features of the various TVs should be scannable and highlighted on the PLP. This way the customer can see differences easily. The current redesign creates pages that are too long and not scannable.

PAGE ANNOTATIONS:

01. Filters may be deleted or cleared. Clearing filters means deselecting all applied and unapplied filters and reloading the page with no filters applied.
02. Each mobile PLP will contain 80 products per page. As the user scrolls, 20 products will be lazy loaded. After the last row of products on the page, users will see "Load More" and then the footer. Tapping "Load More" loads first 20 products of the next page and pushes the footer down to the end of the next load. This is different than desktop/tablet.

TYPES OF PAGES FOR USER

Collections of stacks and other modules.

Discover and My Stacks are top level collections.

Some stacks, like Series, have collections for cover pages.

A Stack.

All sets of books are stacks.

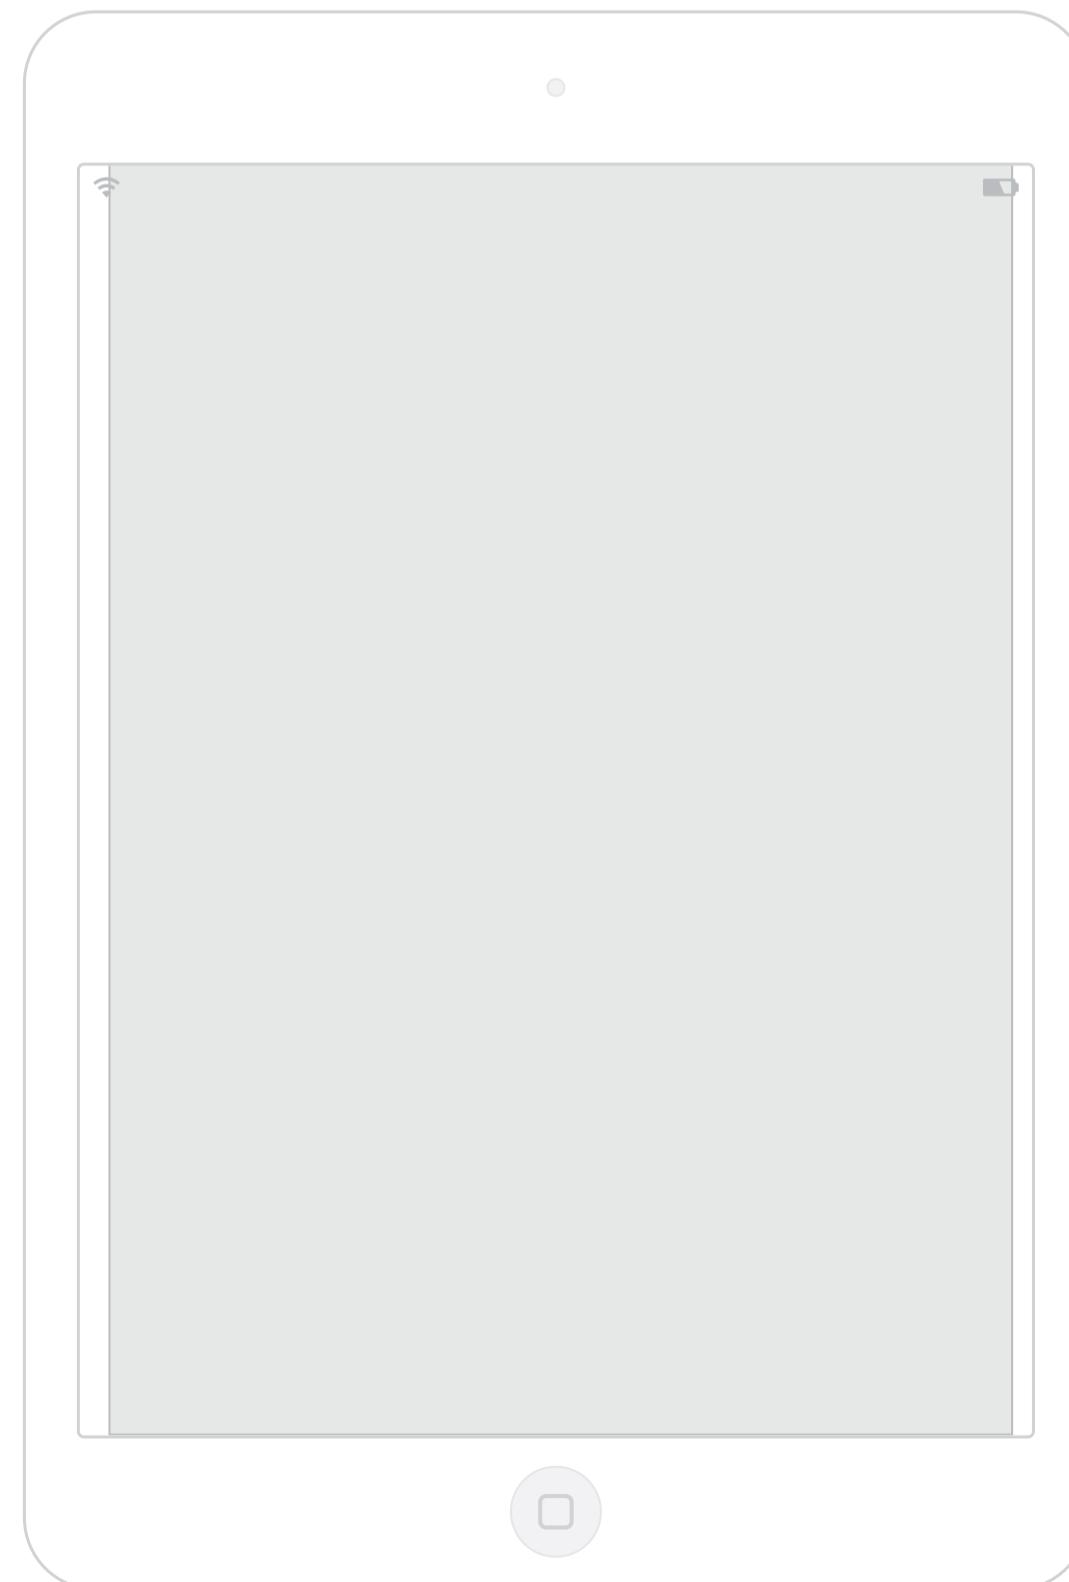

Story Arcs and Series are predetermined stacks. Recommended For You is a dynamic stack.

Search/Filter Results are also stacks and, like all stacks, can easily be saved to My Stacks.

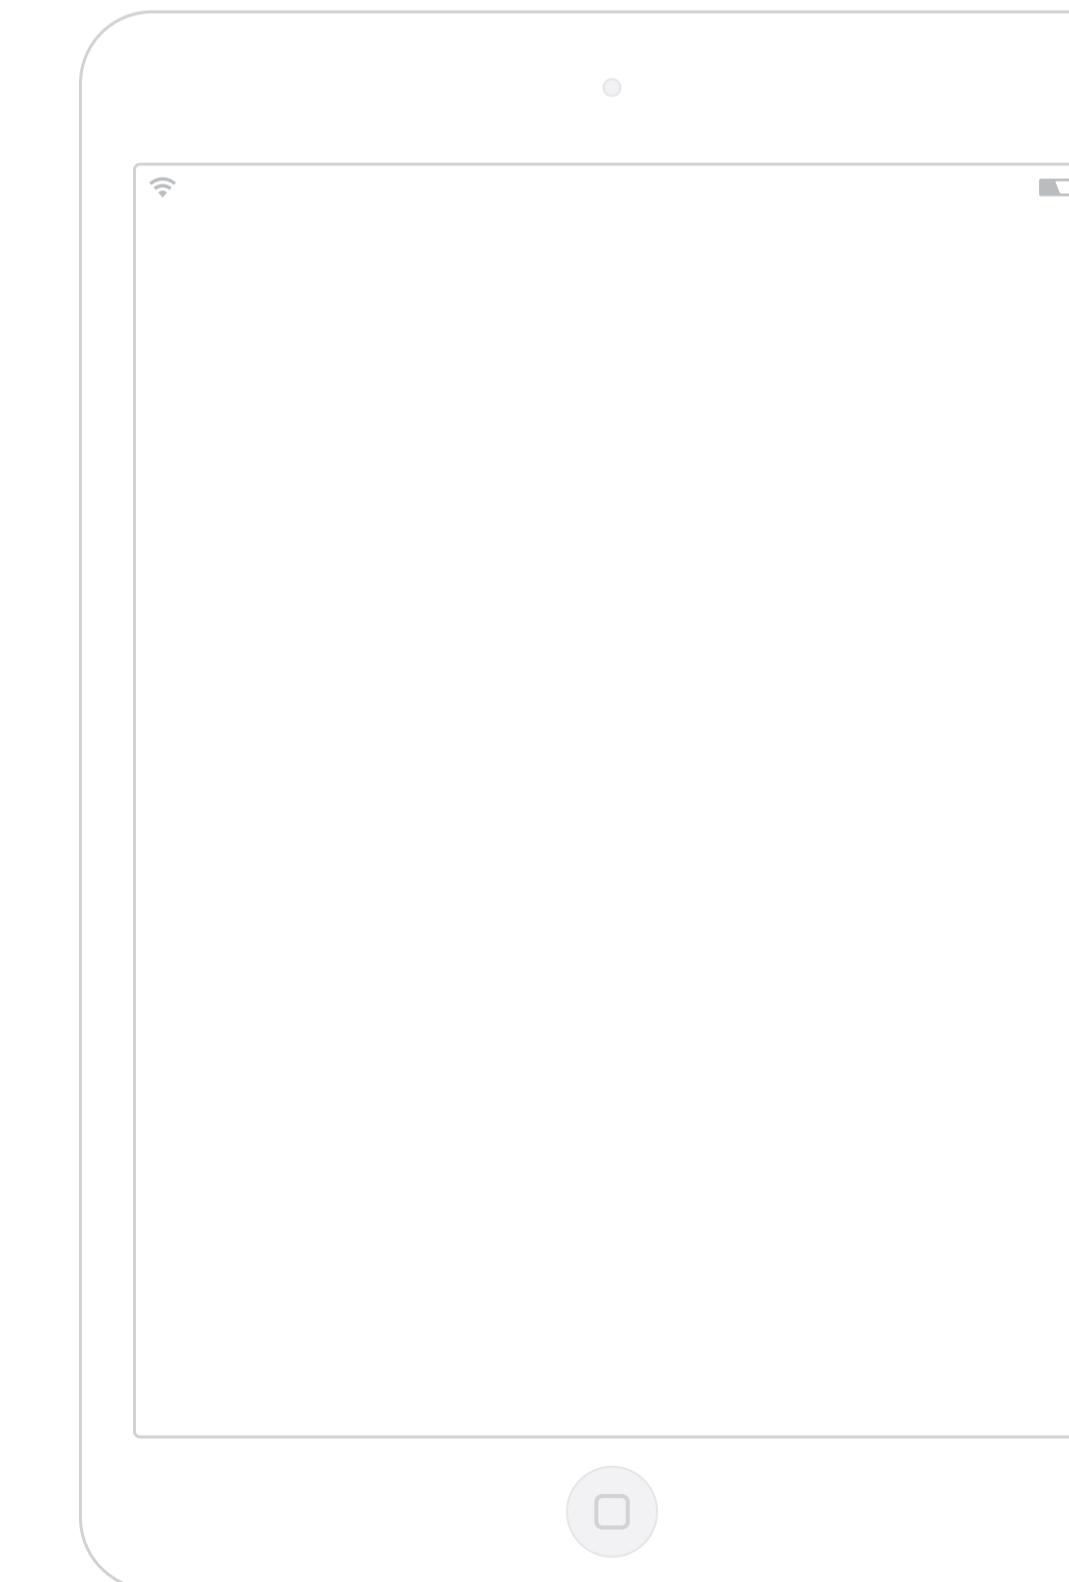

Search/Filter settings can also be saved as a dynamic Smart Stack. Changes to Smart Stacks send notification.
